

Africa Regional Advocacy Strategy on Immunization

2025 - 2030

Driving Joint Advocacy Action to Accelerate Immunization Equity in Africa

The Africa Regional Advocacy Strategy on Immunization (2025–2030) unites regional institutions, governments, global partners, and communities to drive joint action to accelerate immunization equity in Africa.

By aligning stakeholders around bold actions and clear goals, the strategy seeks to turn commitments into measurable impact—ultimately saving lives and building resilient, healthier futures for all Africa's children.

Strategic Advocacy Priorities ▼

By 2030, the Strategy envisions strong regional and national leadership that accelerates progress toward immunization targets to reach zero-dose, underimmunized, and missed communities across Africa.

OBJECTIVE 1:

Strengthen the political will of African Union Member States to fully adopt, align with, and implement regional immunization commitments—specifically, ADI and national immunization strategies.

OBJECTIVE 2:

Increase domestic investment within primary health care systems to respond to current shifts in global health financing and strengthen health systems to deliver immunization programming to all.

OBJECTIVE 3:

Strengthen accountability mechanisms for regional- and national-level immunization commitments and resources.

OBJECTIVE 4:

Build and strengthen coordinated, evidence-based communication and community engagement systems to foster public trust and demand for both new and routine vaccines.

OBJECTIVE 5:

Advance Africa's vaccine manufacturing and regulatory agenda to ensure timely, affordable, and equitable access to vaccines.

This strategy is not just a framework; it is Africa's call to action.
