

Comprehensive Community Health Worker Training in Nigeria

The Rotary Healthy Communities Challenge (RHCC) is a three-year multi-country project aimed at delivering integrated community case management (iCCM) to communities in Nigeria, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Mozambique, and Zambia. With funding from the Rotary International Foundation, World Vision, and the Gates Foundation, the RHCC project leverages community health workers (CHWs) to deliver iCCM services across project sites. The training and capacity of the CHW workforce are foundational to the project's goal of reducing death and severe illness in children under five due to malaria, diarrhea, and pneumonia. In Nigeria, RHCC is working with the State Primary Health Care Development Agencies to support ongoing iCCM implementation in Kebbi and Akwa Ibom states through engagement with local CHWs cadres. PATH has been working in partnership with the State Primary Health Care Development Agencies to verify, train, equip, and mentor CHWs in project areas. The process, described in stages below, results in CHWs which are effectively prepared to deliver the lifesaving iCCM services in their communities.
